Secret
Update

No 1

Imagine the reaction you must have received if you were moved to write these words after an event.

“Thank you so much for entertaining and dazzling our members and our guests at our conference dinner. You were an absolute star! And people are still talking about it more than three weeks after the event.”

Dear John

Having seen one of my presentations in the past, I'd like to welcome you to the 'new look' 'Secret Update' launching my new website www.hotowka.com. Future communications will have interesting and practical hints, tips and snippets of useful information. Knowledge and wisdom we can all use in our business lives from the people I meet on my travels.

For now, if I may, I'll keep to my promise and remind you how I can help you impress staff and clients at your next event.

Laughter after dinner

What's it like when you imagine having organised a dinner your clients rave about for a long time afterwards? Everyone enjoys a good laugh after dinner and my approach to after dinner speaking is adaptable, visual, engaging, sparkling with good clean comedy and thrives on audience participation. Mini miracles and mirth - table magic

Sometimes something on a smaller scale is required and the subtlety of close up magic around the tables or at a reception creates just the right ambiance to break the ice and help conversations flow. Hotowka - Close Up

The Wedding Magician

Making The Day Extra Special For Brides, Grooms and Guests at Weddings – As the bride and groom are obviously the stars of this show, I only offer close-up magic, which is ideally suited to this type of event. I'm able to mingle with guests, during the reception and meal or the evening function if required, performing illusions under their noses and often in their hands. An

'icebreaker' that puts people at their ease, is memorable and produces the right ambiance for the occasion - impressive without being imposing. For more information please visit www.theweddingmagician.co.uk.

The success of my unique type of presentation is best judged by the companies who have enjoyed it over the years and I wondered if there were any events I could help you or your clients with. For more information, please visit my web site <http://www.hotowka.com/>.

Better still, when would now be a good time to call me on 01274 685152 to discuss how I can help you and your clients?

I look forward to hearing from you.

Have a great week.
